'All the differences make for richness'

Says Dr GEORG LECHNER, the moving spirit of the Encounter

'Drama is a clash of two rights, rather than of right and wrong' FARRUKH DHONDY,playwright, short-story writer and commissioning editor for ethnic programmes on British television's Channel 4, talks to JYOTI PUNWANI never mind if they're neither. It's a de-mand for the chics of the worst of Bom-bay films.

That is the extra-literary demand put upon Black and Asian playwrightd. It is a grave mistake and a historical mistake too. It means you are looking upon the British worked part of work of work on it, as though they were Chinese peasants of the early 20th cer-

The Sunday Observed